The Imperishable Perfume.

As a rule, the perfumes now in use have no permanency. An hour or two after their use, there is no trace of perfume left. How different is the result succeeding the use of Murry and Lamson's Fluid Water. Days after its application the handkerchief exudes a most delightful, delicate and agreeable fragrance.

A Republic Proclaimed with Troch as President.

THE LATE EMPEROR AND EMPRESS

PARIS, Sep. 4.—The following proclamation has been issued by the new government:

Republique Francaise. Ministere L'Intérieur. The decadence has been pronounced in the corps legislative.

The Republic has been proclaimed at the Hotel de Ville.

A government of national defense, composed of eleven members and all the deputies of Paris has been constituted and ratified by popular acclamation. Their names are: Arago, Emanuel Crémieux, Jules Favre, Jules Ferry, Gambetta, Garnier Pagès, Gislas Bizone, Eugene Pelletan, M. Picard, Rochefort and Jules Simon.

Gen. Trochu will at the same time continue in the exercise of the powers of governor of Paris, and is appointed minister of war in place of Palikao.

Please placard immediately and if necessary have proclaimed by the public enter this declaration.

For the government of national defense, the Minister of the Interior.

(Signed) LEON GAMBETTA.

Paris, the 4th day of September, at 6 o'clock p.m.

Trochu, President.

The following circular dispatch has been sent by the Minister of the Interior to the prefects of departments:

Paris, Sep. 4, 1870.—Gen. Trochu, Governor of Paris, has been appointed a member of the government of national defense installed at the Hotel de Ville. He takes the portfolio of war, and his colleagues have conferred upon him the presidency.

(Signed) LEON GAMBETTA.

The Empire Ended.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 4.—Minister Wa shburn telegraphs to the department of state that the French empire is ended and that the excitement is intense in Paris.

Where Napoleon will Live.

PARIS, Sep. 4.—An interview has taken place between Napoleon and the King of Prussia, for the purpose of deciding upon the future residence of the emperor. One of the German fortresses was fixed upon, probably Mayence.

Empress Going to Prussia:

The empress Eugenie, having received assurance from the Prussian government that she will not be treated as a prisoner, has consented to join her husband and son, who has also surrendered with his father at Sedan. She will leave for Prussia as soon as her arrangements can be perfected.

Napoleon Plucky.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—It is said that a friend consulting with the Emperor on Saturday, expressed a hope that his popularity in Paris was not gone. The Emperor replied: It matters not. I shall return there to exact a reckoning, not to give one.

Why Napoleon Surrendered.

A Brussels dispatch says Napoleon surrendered only after receiving a message from Trochu that such a step would relieve the country and strengthen the cause.

France had three hundred thousand troops in and about Paris, and the Prussians three hundred and fifty thousand strong were to march upon the capital if it refused to surrender.

France Broken-hearted.

France Broken-hearted.

New York, Sept. 5.—The Courier des Etats Unis says:

The dead is done. France is broken-hearted. One month has sufficed to paralyze her. If not to annihilate the living forces of the most grand and powerful people, and at the same time to displace the political axis of the earth. It is useless to simulate—the army which has surrendered was the very flower of the military people. McMahon destroyed, Bazaine powerless—for the rest France is but a huge mass, fanatical and patriotic, ready enough to strike its head against the mouths of the Prussian cannon. There is no more for man army. The masses now so full of faith can do nothing against military science, against discipline, against new arms!

Proclamations Issued.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—The Journal Official de la Republique publishes the following Proclamation:

Citizens of Paris:

The Republic is proclaimed. A government has been appointed by acclamation. It is composed of the citizens Emanuel Arago, Crémieux, Jules Favre, Jules Ferry, Gambetta, Garnier Pagès, Gislas Bizone, Eugene Pelletan, and Jules Simon. Representatives of Paris, General Trochu is entrusted with full military powers for the national defense.

He has been called to the Presidency of the government. The government which is before all a government for national defense has formed a Ministry, as follows: Jules Favre, Minister of foreign affairs; General La Flèche, Minister of War; Emanuel Crémieux, Minister of Justice; Ernest Picard, Minister of Finances; Jules Simon, Minister of Public Instruction and Worship; Dorian, Minister of Public Works; Magnin, Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. The Minister of the Presidency of the Council of State is supreme. M. Steenacker is appointed director of Telegraphs. The Government of National Defense decrees that the Corps Legislatif be dissolved, and the Senate abolished. Full amnesty is accorded for all political crimes and offences against the press laws committed since December 6, 1852, to December 3, 1870. All the condemned still detained, whether by judgment of correctional tribunals, or courts d'assise, or councils of war, shall be immediately set at liberty.
